Last Will and Testament (Will): Distributes property and assets according to your wishes. It also appoints a representative to handle your estate after you pass. Having a Will can help avoid family disputes and conflicts.

Durable Power of Attorney: Allows you to appoint a person to make decisions on your behalf.

Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care: Allows you to appoint a person to make health care decisions.

Health Care Directive: Provides instructions and makes known your desire for artificially prolonged circumstances.

Cremation Instructions: Allows you to appoint a person to carry out your wishes on cremation or burial, and any other specific requests.

Uniform Donor Pledge: Provides specific instructions for any anatomical gifts you may wish to make.

Digital Estate Plan: Helps organize and index your digital property and assets.

Community Property Agreement: Agreement for married couples outlining the disposition of community property upon one spouse's passing.

**Revocable Living Trusts and Real Estate Trusts are separate from the Comprehensive Estate Plan because it may not be necessary for everyone. Call today for a consultation to determine whether having a Trust is beneficial for you and your loved ones.
